Lake Shore to have accreditation celebration

Lake Shore Middle School is planning a celebration parade in honor of receiving their accreditation under the guidance of Principal Richard Ramsey.

This is the first time in the school's history they have received the Seven Accreditation of Colleges and Schools.

The parade will begin about 9:45 a.m. on Friday, Feb. 25, at Avenue A, Belle Glade, and proceed down Second Street to Avenue E and end at 12th Street about 11 a.m.

Participating will be all areas of the school including the band, the various clubs, drill team, sports department and other academic classes.

Members of the community are invited to view the parade and celebrate with the Lake Shore family.

Registration open for Little League baseball

Notice to all coaches, parents and players of Pahokee Little League - there will be registration for Little League baseball on Saturday, Feb. 26, Saturday, March 5, and Saturday, March 12.

Registration will be at the Pahokee Fire Department from 9 a.m. until noon, and from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. all three days. There will be sample uniforms on hand to size children for their uniform.

The organization is also planning to have a senior league this year if there is enough interest. There is a charge to participate.

Okeechobee Rodeo is happening in March

The Okeechobee Cattlemen's Speckled Perch Festival Rodeo is scheduled for Saturday, March 12, and Sunday, March 13. Both performances begin at 2:30 p.m. and will include saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, barrel racing and the Wild Horse Race.

Specialty acts include barrelman Keith Isley and bullfighters Ernesto "La Bamba" Franco and Tommy Hare.

The Speckled Perch Festival parade begins at 10:30 a.m. in downtown Okeechobee. The Festival takes place all weekend in Flagler Park.

Highlights of the Festival include a fish fry, antique car show, Seminole Indian crafts and live music.

For more information about the rodeo, call Susan Clemons at 813-763-3127 or 763-4432.

For festival information, call the Okeechobee Chamber of Commerce at 763-6464.

Family math night

Glades View Elementary School will host a Family Math Night on Tuesday, Feb. 24, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Refreshments will be served and all parents are invited to attend.

Fiery crash claims lives of five local youths

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

A fiery crash claimed the lives of five youngsters Friday, Feb. 18, on State Road 15. Four people killed in the collision were brothers and sisters, one of the youth's was their cousin.

According to Florida Highway Patrol reports, Omar Antonio Ortega, 17; Lisette Ortega, 15; Jorge Sifuentes, 7; Pedro Sifuentes, Jr., 5; and, Priscilla Perez, 4, died in a three-vehicle crash on a two-lane highway that links the towns of Pahokee and Belle Glade. Reports also indicate the roads were wet and the winds were strong.

According to FHP officials, the pickup truck occupying the five young people was traveling southbound on S.R. 15. Also traveling on S.R. 15 was a 1987 Cougar driven by Richard M. Delgado, of Belle Glade. The cougar slowed down to make a right-hand turn and was struck by the pickup. The pickup then spun 180 degrees in a clockwise position colliding with a semi-tractor trailer that was traveling northbound on S.R. 15.

The semi-tractor trailer, driven by Derry Brown Jr. of Pahokee, could not avoid the collision because there were guardrails on the east side of the shoulder.

After the semi-tractor trailer and the pickup collided, both vehicles continued to move north approximately 250 feet, coming to a stop in both lanes.

Both the semi-tractor trailer and the pickup were engulfed in flames. The pickup was totaled at $8,000, while the semi-tractor trailer was totaled at $100,000.

The driver and the passengers in the pickup truck were all pronounced dead at the scene.

Shortly after the collision, the youth's parents arrived on the scene. After learning that her children and her niece were involved in the fiery collision and they did not survive, Maria Sifuentes collapsed. She had to be treated for shock at Glades General Hospital, Belle Glade.

According to a relative of the family, family members were headed for Florida to attend a belated birthday party that Pedro Sifuentes and his wife had planned for Lisette. The couple had purchased Lisette a new dress the party; she will be buried in the dress.

Fire demolishes old Pahokee High School auditorium

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Off-duty firefighters were at an event at the city's Recreation Complex at 360 Main Street, Pahokee last Friday night when they heard several explosions.

When they went outside they saw the old three story high school auditorium in flames.

The abandoned auditorium, built in 1941, was given to the city by the Palm Beach County School Board in 1988, after students moved in to the new Pahokee Junior/Senior High School. Several of the old buildings were to be torn down by the city.

Fire Chief Gary Burroughs said by the time his men got to the fire about 7 p.m., the building was fully engulfed.

"There's no telling how long it had been burning," he said. The flames were already through the roof."

The fire department called in the Canal Point Volunteer Fire Department to help contain the fire. Other buildings on the property did not catch fire. They had the fire extinguished by 10 p.m.

Chief Burroughs said his men had to return to the building about 1 a.m. because some smoldering overhead beams had reignited.

The chief said someone may have set the fire, since the building has no live electrical wiring. Although the abandoned buildings are fenced, Chief Burroughs said kids had been run out of the fenced-in area earlier that day.

State FiresMarshall Richard Schuller was called in Saturday morning to investigate the fire. There is no conclusion as to how the fire started, but he said the building had no value.

The walls of the building are still standing, although several are leaning and have massive cracks. City Manger Ken Schenck said the building has been declared a dangerous building and he has contacted Housing and Community Development to see about getting a Block Grant to clear away the rubble.

Unusual red brick tile was found to be part of the wall construction material at the old Pahokee High School auditorium which burned last Friday night. Police Chief Gary Burroughs said arson is not suspected.

Nation's largest cogeneration plant planned for Okeelanta

Elected officials from Florida hailed the construction of the Okeelanta Cogeneration Plant, a 70-megawatt industrial cogeneration plant that will be the nation's largest biomass-fueled plant of its kind when it begins operating in early 1996. The cogeneration plant, which is located next to Okeelanta Sugar Mill in South Bay, was developed by Flo Energy Corporation, a subsidiary of Flo-Sun, Inc., and U.S. Generating Co., a partnership of subsidiaries of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and Bachtel Group, Inc.

Cogeneration, a process that uses a single fuel source to produce two forms of energy, usually electricity and process team, has become one of the dominant types of new electricity generation in the past 15 years. Cogenerators and other small power producers now account for approximately 50,000 megawatts, or about 6 percent of the total installed electric capacity in the United States.

Joseph Kerney, president and CEO of U.S. Generating, which joined Flo-Energy last fall as partner and co-developer, said, "The Okeelanta generating plant is cogeneration in its purest form — residual sugarcane waste, or bagasse, and wood waste are used as renewable fuel to produce low-cost process steam for a vital Florida industry and needed electric power for a region in the country that has very high electric demand."

Mr. Fanjul and Mr. Kearney noted that Okeelanta Cogeneration Plant will have substantial environmental and economic benefits.

Mr. Kearney said that the project will generate significant revenues for Palm Beach County when it begins operation. During peak construction, approximately 350 jobs will be created. When operations begin, a total of 34 full-time employees will be hired, generating an annual payroll of $1.6 million.

Florida Power & Light Co. will buy the plant's electricity output under a 30-year power purchase agreement with OPLP. U.S. Operating Services Co. will be responsible for operations and maintenance during the plant's operating life.

Man found dead in canal

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

A 55-year old farm tractor driver was found dead last week in a canal by members of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department. Floyd Weaver had been employed for Twin H Farms for three years.

Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office reports indicate that Mr. Weaver was driving the farm tractor truck on a rock road near U.S. Highway 98 near a canal. Mr. Weaver was found by an equipment operator in an adjacent field.

Mr. Weaver was driving a John Deer Tractor and it is believed to have been in mechanical order. Reports indicate that OSHA had been notified.

Reports indicate this accident is the first fatality in Western Palm Beach County's farming and agricultural area this harvest season. Last year, there were a total of six accidental injuries involving deaths.

Glades pioneer dies of massive heart attack

Glades pioneer Hub Spooner, 79, of Belle Glade died suddenly, Saturday, Feb. 19, of a massive heart attack.

Mr. Spooner was a resident of the Glades for 72 years. He was born in Miller County, Ga. on Nov. 29, 1914, and moved to Pahokee in 1922 with his parents, J.E. "Uncle Ed" Spooner, Sr., and Nellie Spooner.

He served in the U.S. Army, 610 Engineers during the invasion of Normandy Beach on D-Day and was seriously wounded. He was decorated with the Purple Heart.

For many years, he was affiliated with the Christian Chevrolet car dealership in Pahokee and Clewiston. For the past 30 years he was a sugarcane farmer in Belle Glade.

Mr. Spooner was an avid sportsman and enjoyed hunting and fishing with family and friends. He spent New Year's in New Orleans cheering the Florida Gators on to their Sugar Bowl victory and SEC Championship.

He was a past member of the Lion's and Rotary Clubs and was active in the Belle Glade BPO Elks Lodge 716 and American Legion, Post 20.

He was preceded in death by

Daniel Rose to attend National Young Leaders Conference in Washington

Daniel Rose

Daniel Rose of Pahokee will participate in the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C. from March 1 to 6.

Daniel, the son of Paul and Sandy Rose of Pahokee, is a student at Christian Day School.

He will be among one of 350 young leaders from across the nation attending the conference, which is a "hands-on" leadership training program for high school students who have demonstrated leadership potential and scholastic merit.

The theme of the conference is "The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today." Daniel will interact with the leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps.

Daniel said he is grateful to the local farmers and businessmen of the Glades who helped underwrite his trip.

Highlights of the leadership conference include welcoming remarks from a member of Congress on the floor of the House of Representatives. Students participate in a panel discussion with distinguished journalists at the National Press Club and visit a foreign embassy for an international policy briefing. Students may also meet with their elected senators and representatives or designated congressional staff.

In addition to the Washington briefings, Daniel will participate in activities designed to enhance each student's individual leadership style. In one activity, Foreign Policy and the President, students role-play the president and members of the Cabinet who must respond to an international crisis in the Balkans.

The culminating activity of the conference is the Mock Congress on National Service, in which students role-play members of the United States House of Representatives by debating, amending and voting on proposed youth service legislation.

More than 7,000 outstanding young leaders nationwide participate in one of 20 sessions of the National Young Leaders Conference held each year. The conference is sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council, a nonprofit, nonpartisan educational organization located in Washington, D.C. Founded in 1985, the Council is dedicated to "fostering and inspiring young people to achieve their full leadership potential."

Over 300 members of the United States Congress join this commitment as members of the Council's Honorary Congressional Board of Advisors.

Sation Konchellah named congressional messenger

Sation Konchellah

Glades Central High School 11th grader, Sation Konchellah, 16, will serve as congressional messenger for the Honorable Addie L. Greene, District 84 representative for the Florida House of Representatives.

Miss Konchellah was selected for her winning essay, which she submitted during December.

Her tenure as legislative messenger will occur from Feb. 28 through March 4, 1994.

Prior to that week, Miss Konchellah participates in the Presidential Classroom Program in Washington, D.C., where she will receive an intensive civics course complete with first-hand review of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the United States government.

Between Feb. 19 and 26, Miss Konchellah will attend sessions of the United States House of Representatives, the U.S. Senate, the U.S. Supreme Court and she will visit the White House for sessions there.

The Presidential Classroom, a national program, selects juniors and seniors in high school, who are honor students for participation in the one-week course.

In addition to sessions in Congress, the Supreme Court and the White House, participants in the programs are involved in government policy research and debate and various caucus activities designed to familiarize them with the inner workings of American government.

Sation is a member of the National Honor Society, varsity cheerleaders, the Glades Central Conflict Mediation Team, the Hurston Leadership Academy, Sub-debutantes of the Elite Community Club, and the Delteens.

She is an attendant to Miss Junior at Glades Central.

She is the daughter of Lawrence and Carthedа Konchellah of Belle Glade.

Horta, Schenck and Burroughs honored

Three Pahokee city officials received plaques from the Essence Unique ladies of Pahokee.

Awards were presented to Pahokee Mayor Ramon Horta, Jr., City Manager Ken Schenck, and Fire Chief Gary Burroughs.

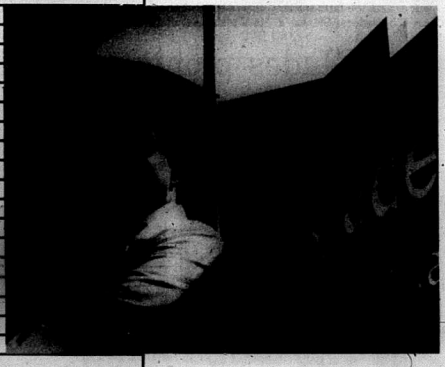

Each were recognized for their commitment to the City of Pahokee and the community.

Essence President Elsie Singletary said "The club is always recognizing people for services rendered and other reasons, and it was about time for it to honor other supporters of the city and its clubs."

The presentation took place at the Martin Luther King Commemoration Ceremony, sponsored by the Concerned Citizens for Community Improvement and the Clergy Association.

The Essence Unique Ladies Club was in charge of the commemoration ceremony and the march.

Thirty ladies of the Methodist faith attend Christian retreat in Leesburg

Thirty ladies from the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade, and the Canal Point United Methodist Church in Canal Point, attended the 10th Annual Leesburg Women's Retreat this past weekend.

The ladies joined together with 400 other women from throughout the State of Florida for this retreat at the United Methodist Life Enrichment Center located in Leesburg.

The women came to spend the weekend with God, away from the everyday rush of life, said participant Rev. Jackie McMillan.

The theme for this retreat was "Seek Ye First...". The weekend was filled with spiritual growth opportunities through Bible study, prayer, inspirational speakers, music, and fellowship.

The ladies who attended are: Frances Adams, Mildred Ballard, Lucille Bargeron, Lillian Blackburn, Marie Blackwell, Margo Cain, Nancy Carpenter, Cecilia Eichelberger, Peggy Frank, Ruth Gilbert, Mickey Harris, Dee Luce, Rynette Kuntz, Bertie Maxson, Carolyn Milita, Kathy McGarry, Margaret Mosley, Frances Murphy, Carolyn Priest, Yadira Sears, Marilyn Sims, Gloria Smith, Judi Spangler, Lynette Thompson, Edith Vanlandingham, Diane Wagner, Becky Watson, Margaret West, Kathy Morris White, and Rev. Jackie McMillan.

Fellowship and fun was part of the 10th annual Leesburg Women's Retreat attended by 30 Glades women. Belle Glade Woman's Club learns of activities at Lawrence Will Museum

The Woman's Club of Belle Glade met at the Lawrence E. Will Museum for their February meeting.

President Sandra Chamblee presided over the meeting. Board Chairmen of the museum, Dr. Joe Orsenigo and Ed Rice informed the club of the many projects the museum has been involved with.

The board has been working on the display items, filing, labeling and arranging the artifacts, pictures and documentary news articles pertaining to the Glades.

Ann Tyler, local artist, has painted a mural for the background display of an Indian mannequin. The tunic worn by th mannequin was donated by Billy Bowlegs III.

Also displayed is a mounted bobcat caught by Mrs. Tyler's son.

Many volunteers have helped the museum's board restore the museum, which is open to clubs and organizations by appointment.

Dr. Orsenigo said the board is interested in any old diaries, photos, records, tapes, artifacts or oral history from pioneers, especially of the early years prior to 1929.

The program for the Woman's Club March meeting will have be HOBY (the Hugh O'Brian Youth),

Busing

They're talking about busing kids from the Acreage over to Palm Beach Gardens. When they get this new high school finished in Belle Glade are they going to bus any of those people from Wellington? Or from West Palm Beach out to Belle Glade?

If they don't, why not? Why can't they kind of segregate these schools out here?

Still watching

Those of us who enjoy the beauty of Lyons Park and frequent walks around the park just want the vandals to know that we are watching for you.

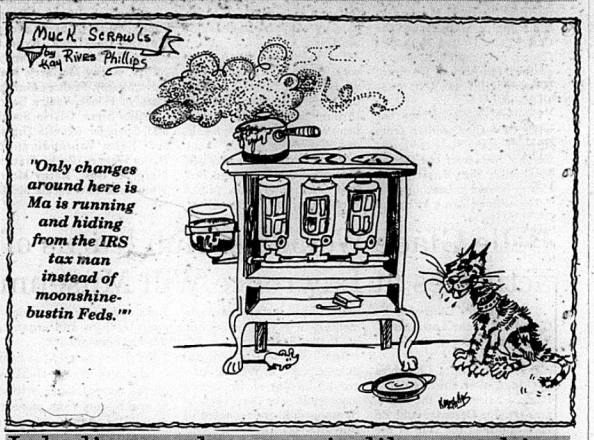

If we catch anyone defacing or vandalizing our beautiful park we will not hesitate to turn you in.

Watch out. We're watching you. And, we urge everyone to enjoy the parks close to their homes, they're free, paid for with taxpayers dollars, for all of us to enjoy.

Gas still too high

I've been watching these gas prices in the Glades and they still are much higher than other places.

Why should we be paying $1.24 when it's a lot less everywhere else? I think we're being ripped off. Do others feel the same?

Inhaling radon gas is like smoking two packs of cigarettes every day

By Colin Whitworth
University of Florida News

Depending on where you live in Florida, you could be smoking the equivalent of two packs of cigarettes a day -- without knowing it.

The culprit is radon gas, a radioactive byproduct of decaying uranium found in many rocks and soils. U.S. health officials say the odorless gas causes lung cancer and kills as many as 20,000 people a year.

Because certain areas are hot spots for radon, Florida's Department of Community Affairs has commissioned a group of University of Florida researchers to create a computer-generated "smart map" of radon potential.

"Florida is such a high-growth state, and there are so many homes being built, that the state wanted to see if housing codes for areas with high radon potential needed to be changed for the public health," said Stanley Latimer, a UF researcher in urban and regional planning.

Mr. Latimer said he and the group of researchers finished the preliminary map of 12 North and Central Florida counties last year. Of those counties, Marion, Alachua and Citrus had areas with the highest radon potential, he said.

The rest of the state will be mapped by the end of the year, he said. State community affairs officials will then recommend whether housing codes in areas with high radon potential need to be revised so that new homes are built in a way that reduces the risk of exposure.

While scientists understand the sources and effects of radon, they have trouble predicting where the gas is likely to appear, and in what concentrations.

Many rocks and soils contain uranium. Most have just a small amount between one and three parts per million. As uranium decays, it forms radium, which itself decays to form radon.

Because radon is a gas, it is mobile and can seep through rocks and minerals towards the surface, where most of it dissipates harmlessly into the air.

But radon also can seep into homes. In Florida, where many homes are air-conditioned, that can be dangerous because the airtight conditions can trap and concentrate radon into deadly proportions.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency says a lifetime's exposure to the average indoor level is riskier than getting 20 chest X-rays every year. The EPA says hat the maximum safe exposure to radon is the equivalent of receiving 200 chest X-rays every year.

At 20 times the average indoor level, the risk is the same as smoking two packs of cigarettes a day, according to the EPA.

The concentration of radon depends on both the geology of the land and the types of soil under a home. Rocks like shale or phosphate have more uranium, while certain soils prevent radon from reaching the surface before it decays.

Using a computer technology called Geographic Information Systems, Mr. Latimer, UF urban and regional planning Professor Paul Zwick and a group of researchers across the country are taking geology and soil date and putting them into an interactive computer mapping system.

The GIS map allows the user to ask it questions about the databases and gives answers in a visual form, which makes the reams of information easier to comprehend, said Professor Zwick, who helps direct UF's Geopian Center.

"The project would be almost impossible to do manually," he said. "It would drive you nuts. Tabular data are harder to comprehend than graphical data."

Using the GIS computers, the researchers combined that information with radiation tests taken by airplanes flying over Florida. The planes flew in a grid pattern six miles wide and 18 miles long, testing radiation levels every 200 feet.

The radiation tests and the soil and geology databases were sent to a consultant in Utah, who created a database of radon potential. Mr. Latimer and Mr. Zwick are using those results to design the map.

Professor Zwick said the state is paying UF more than $1 million for the map.

Older Americans make good employees

A message from Job Service of Florida:

Nearly 40 million working Americans are middle-aged or older people. They are men and women holding top positions in industry and government, and they are workers producing a wide variety of goods and services.

As a group, they have no serious job problems - so long as they are regularly employed. Yet workers over 40 who lose their jobs commonly have great trouble finding new ones, and the search is increasingly difficult as they grow older.

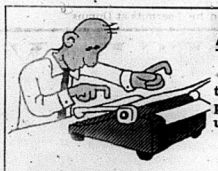

Employer reluctance to hire these workers persists despite a wealth of evidence that age discrimination makes no sense at all.

The costs of age discrimination are high. Besides personal hardship, they include disproportionate public expenditures on unemployment insurance for older workers.

A less obvious cost is the productivity loss associated with neglect of older workers' skills and experience. It is a loss the nation can ill afford.

To focus attention on this problem, National Employ the Older Worker Week is being observed March 13 through 19.

It is a good time for each of us to examine our attitudes toward older workers. Hiring on the basis of ability, not age, is a matter of basic fairness. It is also good business.

Watching the Olympics during the past week, one can't help admiring the power, endurance, passion, range, and breadth of the human spirit.

Skater Dan Jansen fell during the 500 meter run, but a few days later was able to set a new world record in the 1,000 meter race.

One can not help but be awed by Johan Kloss's three gold medals thus far. Tommy Moe skied to glory as well. Torvill and Dean showed that their roses are still in full bloom, even 10 years after their earlier victories.

Sadly, Boitano and Kurt Browning succumbed to the pressures in their comeback bids. (I don't want to even mention that skater, "what's-her-name").

The list of accomplishments and defeats goes on and on.

Some have maintained their skill under awesome pressures - while others have been bested by anxiety and made errors on relatively simple (for them) tasks.

It is not however, to the Olympians that I dedicate this column this week. Rather, it is to you; the rest of the world - the non-Olympians.

If a gold medal or a multi-million dollar endorsement contract were available to all those who give to their community, or to those who raise their kids with good values, I would be less impressed with parents and community leaders.

Rather, most of us try to do good works and good deeds, not for explicit riches or glory - but for the inner motivation of doing what is right and what is needed.

It is easier to do something with thousands of people cheering you on. It is much more difficult to keep motivated when you have only yourself and a difficult task ahead of you.

So give a cheer and hooray to yourselves. Let's praise the teachers, the janitors, the truck drivers, the field workers, the secretaries, the waiters, and everyone else.

It is the regular person who works the most, for the least reward; and it is the regular person who is most important to a functioning community.

High tech future planned for diesel mechanic participants at West Technical Education Center

Members of the crafts advisory committee for West Technical Education's Diesel Mechanics Program met to discuss future plans for the program recently.

The Diesel Mechanics Program was reopened in June 1993 and has currently become one of the most popular programs on the campus.

The rapid success of the program is credited to the instructor, Mr. Manuel Moya.

Mr. Moya and members of the advisory committee discussed his plan to bring computer simulators and new computerized engines into the instructional laboratory.

Funding sources are presently limited, however, a new 2000 Training System for Diesel Truck Electrical System and Diesel Truck Starting/Charging System has been purchased and will be in place this year.

Additional sources will be needed to purchase other highly technical equipment.

Mrs. Maxson, West Tech Director, gave a brief overview of the current status of the school's growing student population and expressed her appreciation for their participation on the craft advisory committee.

Members of the committee visited the laboratory and work stations.

Game & Fish Commission issues invalid turkey permits by mistake

Two-hundred and fifty sportsmen were inadvertently mailed invalid permits to hunt wild turkey in a popular south Florida wildlife management area which normally accommodates 25 hunters during each of three quota huts in March.

The invalid permits were for the John G. and Susan H. Dupuis Jr. Wildlife and Environmental Area.

This is a 21,875-acre site located in Martin and Palm Beach counties located three miles east of Port Mayaca.

The permits were for the first quota hunt of spring turkey, March 8-10.

Laura Richards, Everglades regional wildlife biologist with the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC), said permits are often transferred to other sportsmen who may not be aware that they are invalid.

"Those original 250 permits will not be accepted at the Dupuis check station," Ms. Richard said. "We have already conducted a new random draw and selected 25 hunters for that first quota hunt.

"Some people who have these permits may not be aware of the mistake," she said. "A lot of people are disappointed as it is. The last thing we want is for a sportsman to appear at the gate March 8, thinking he has a valid permit when he doesn't."

The Dupuis area is managed cooperatively by the South Florida Water Management District, the Florida Department of Forestry, and the GFC which supervises the public hunts there.

A total of 75 hunters receive permits to hunt Dupuis during spring turkey season.

Ms. Richards said the Dupuis area is managed for high quality hunts, meaning fewer permits are issued.

Sportsmen receive permits only if they are selected by a random computer draw.

This year, 1,800 individuals applied for 75 spring turkey permits at Dupuis.

Parents and students learn that love is a necessity in everyday life

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

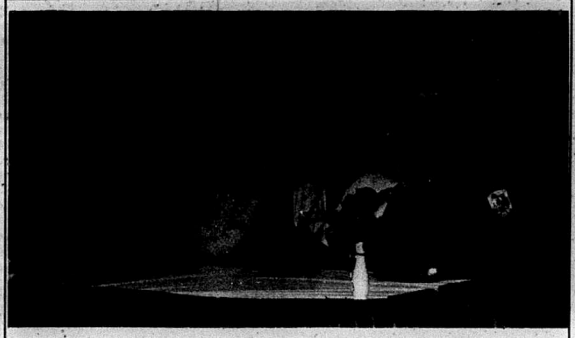

Making the honor roll not only makes a parent feel proud of their child, it also is a sign that teachers are dedicated to helping the children to achieve. This was very evident as parents attended an honor roll breakfast at Rosenwald Elementary School in South Bay.

Students and parents were treated to a full-course breakfast, and many community leaders were in attendance to show they were also proud of the children. Those community leaders that attended the breakfast were South Bay City Commissioner Milranda Smith, South Bay City Manager Lester Baird, and South Bay Police Officer Steve Alves.

Rosenwald Principal Earlene Harrell told the children she was very proud of them. She encouraged them to continue to be good students and they will become successful.

The speaker for the event was Lake Shore Middle School Principal Richard Ramsey. Mr. Ramsey spoke to the students and the parents with a strong but also gentle, stern voice. He told parents to "become involved with your children."

Mr. Ramsey told those attending that children love when someone loves them. "Let children know they're loved, not by words, but by action." He also told the parents to learn to believe in their children. He told the parents to belive in the children and they will belive in the parents.

South Bay community leaders attended the honor roll breakfast at Rosenwald Elementary School. The children and their parents were treated to breakfast and the community leaders helped to pass the certificates out the students. Shown (left to right) are Officer Steve Alves, Commissioner Milranda Smith, South Bay City Manager Lester Baird, and Rosenwald Assistant Principal Barbara Huesman.

Students listened intently as Mr. Ramsey spoke of the need for students to practice non-violence. He spoke of February being Black History Month, and he told the students of the dream that Civil Rights Leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had. He said Dr. King promoted non-violence and ways to solve problems other than fighting. Mr. Ramsey urged parents to educate children on thier heritage so that they will know why things are the way they are today.

According to Mr. Ramsey, "everybody in the world is important."

Respect is an item that Mr. Ramsey upholds and tells the students at his school and in other schools. He urged students to repect their mother, father and those that will help you. He said you must respect "all people who work with you and believe in you."

Many students think they go to school five days a week only because they have to, but Mr. Ramsey told them they go to school so that they can get a good education. He told the children with good education, they can get a good job.

He also urged the children to never give up on their thoughts. He urged the children to "never, never stop dreaming."

According to Mr. Ramsey, "Children are special, they are our future. Without them, there is no future."

Mr. Ramsey attended schools in Polk County. He is a graduate of Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University, Tallahassee. He received his master's degree in Education and Administration Supervision. He serves on many committees and boards in the county and the state. He presently is on the State Department of Education Curriculum Committee. He is also working on his doctorate degree.

Glade View students participate in Science Fair

The combined fifth grade classes in Mrs. Stigall, Mrs. Yuhas and Mr. Dean hosted Open House in their classrooms on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at Glade View Elementary School. The highlight of the evening was the students' Science Fair projects. Parents and invited guests were given the opportunity to view their child's Science Fair project along with a brief explanation.

Congratulations goes to Brian Mincey, Jean Similen, Javaris Colbert and D'Juan Brown for their first place project titled Electrolysis. A second place ribbon was received by James Cannon, Antonio Hill and Keith Gruber for their experiment on creating a refractive lens. Third place was awarded to Vaneshia Porter, Vintyre Finney, Shankia Thomas and Michael Brown for their project entitled The Chemistry Kids.

All of the students displayed tremendous amounts of hard work and a demonstration of the scientific process. The winning projects will represent the fifth grade for Glade View Elementary at the county Science Fair.

Other first place winners at the school were: kindergarten, Mrs. Katirgis' class; first grade, Mrs. Evans' class; second grade, Ms. Benson's class; third grade, Larsharvea Bennett in Ms. Meeker's class; and, fourth grade, Temeka Hanna, Natalie Belfour and Laquanna Corbett in Mrs. Russell's class.

Four Glade View School staff who are members of the Palm Beach County Reading Council visited Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee last week with a goal — Reading! Hearing the importance of reading to children, new mothers at the hospital received a packet of important information and suggestions to prepare their children for school.

The new mothers were given a storybook to begin the process. All the mothers were encouraged to read to their children everyday.

Visiting staff members from Glade View were Gary Hagermann, Dot Laing, Goldie Stopek and Glenda Champion.

Glades Central teacher finalist in Dwyer Awards

Michael Thompson of Glades Central High School is one of the 25 finalists announced for the 1994 Economic Council William Dwyer Awards for Excellence in Education.

"This year marks the 10th anniversary of this very important program," said Al Coogler, chairman of the Economic Council of Palm Beach County, Inc. "Our community's public and private school teachers deserve to be recognized for their many contributions which enhance the quality of life in our country."

More than 165 educators from public and private schools throughout the county were nominated by their peers to participate in this year's Dwyer awards program.

Five finalists were selected in each of five categories -- elementary school, middle school, senior high school, special and vocational/adult education.

The selection committee was composed of Economic Council members and instructors from Florida Atlantic University, Lynn University, Northwood University, Palm Beach Atlantic College and Palm Beach Community College.

The 25 finalists will be interviewed by a judging committee composed of Economic Council members on Saturday, March 19, 1994. Each candidate will be evaluated on professional achievements, community involvement and educational philosophy.

The winners will be announced at an awards banquet on Friday, May 13, 1994, at the Palm Beach Gardens Marriott.

The awards program was named to honor the memory of William T. Dwyer, a former vice president of Pratt & Whitney's Government Products Division and the 1977 chairman of the Economic Council.

Dwyer was a dynamic community leader and was committed to promoting excellence in education statewide with particular emphasis on Palm Beach County.

The Dwyer awards' purpose is to recognize the commitment of Palm Beach County's public and private school teachers to our county's children, to increase community awareness of the county's high quality of education, and to encourage all citizens to promote and support high educational standards in our community.

The Economic Council of Palm Beach County, Inc., is a not-for-profit, non-partisan organization with a membership of 125 business leaders from across the country.

Members represent a wide variety of professions, and their businesses account for more than half the county's employment.

Wow! What a game. The Christian Day Crusaders defeating the Glades Day Gators, 39-43. Way to go guys.

From March 1 to 6, 1994, Daniel Rose, a student of Christian Day School, will praticipate in "The National Young Leaders Conference" in Washington, D.C.

This conference is for high school students who have shown leadership poetntial and scholastic merit. Daniel will participate in activities that will better his individual leadership style.

In one activity, students role play the president and members of his Cabinet who must respond to an international crisis.

The conference is sponsored by a non-profit, non-partisaan educational organization located in Washington, D.C.

Over 300 members of the United States Congress join as members of the Council's Honorary Congressional Board of Advisors.

Good luck at the conference, Daniel. Keep up the good work.

hristian Day School boy's varsity efeats Moore Haven and Glades Day ristian Day School's Cru- rs boy's varsity basketball n defeated Moore Haven rsday, Feb. 17, with a score) to 40. The game was held lades Day School's gymna-.

aniel Holt was the leading er for the Crusaders with oints, and Moises Morales ed 10 points and 12 ounds. Gus Peavy also ed 10 points and had 3 sts.

oore Haven player Marvin Braham was the leading scorer for the Terriers with 13 points.

Christian Day School went on to defeat Glades Day School Saturday night with a score of 43 to 39.

The Crusader's leading scorer was Gus Peavy with 11 points and 4 assists. Moises Morales was the leading rebounder with 9 points and 7 rebounds.

Glades Day's Shawn Whitlock lead the way for the Gators with 13 points and Brad Seider scored 11 points.

CDS Coach Woody Salvatore said his team has had a rough season, with 4 wins and 15 losses this year. The Crusaders were seeded third in the district.

In the Moore Haven game, Coach Salvatore said he felt his players did very well. "We've made some changes in our defense. That helped us," he said. "I believe we've matured a lot. We had some good games," he added.

The Steel Bandits will perform in concert at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center March 3, at 8 p.m. Admission is $12 for adults and $5 for students.

Congratulations to all of the guys who stuck through a very good season.

GOVE ELEMENTARY School

PAW PRINT

This week was a great experience for Gove Elementary with Career Week coordinated by Wanda Cheek. Students were presented numerous job possibilities from bankers, firemen, wildlife personnel to educators.

Next week will start our big Living Well in Florida Month. It will emphasize exercise, eating for a healthy heart, smoke is no joke and taking on heart challenges. These are programs donated to the school through the American Heart Association. A Heart Healthy student body and community is our goal.

On March 4, join us at Mace Park at 1 p.m. to celebrate Fit to Achieve Day which is the kickoff for Living Well in Florida.

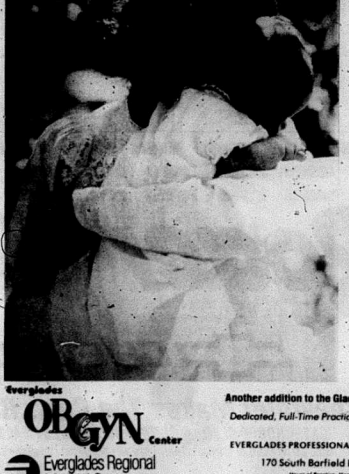

Tell them you read it in The Sun newspaper.

Did you know...

Did you know that the first official American flag contained thirteen stars and thirteen stripes? Each flag was made by hand and they differed greatly in appearance. The color of the stripes varied as well as the placement of the thirteen stars.

The design evolved through the years and eventually formed the flag we have now. Thirteen stripes remain to represent the original thirteen colonies. As each new state joined the Union, a star was added to the flag. Today we have fifty states, and fifty stars on the United States flag.

You've Got To Be Joking

What did the grizzly take on his vacation?
All the bear essentials.

What goes up a chimney down, but won't come down a chimney up?
An umbrella.

Why didn't worms go into the ark in pairs?
Because they went in apples.

Why should you never tell secrets in a garden?
Because the corn has ears, the potatoes have eyes and the beans*talk*.

Gator Tales

This week marks the end of the fourth six weeks and students are busy (or should be) studying for final exams in the grading period. Report cards will be mailed next Wednesday.

The juniors have begun their term papers and English teacher Sharon Baumgartner is making sure they know how to take advantage of all resources by taking them to the county library in West Palm Beach, where up-to-date technology is available for the public use. Good luck to everyone!

Students in fifth through eighth grades are excited this week about the dances to be held this weekend. The elementary dance will be held Friday night, and the junior high dance is scheduled for Saturday evening. The Student Council is planning to sponser a dance for grades ninth through 12th on March 18.

Now that basketball season is over, baseball, softball and tennis will take center stage. The tennis players began their season this past Tuesday with a match at Lake Placid and have another one on Feb. 24. Baseball begins with a game at Summit Christian on March 3 for the varisty and a home game for the JV against Summit on the same day. The varisty softball team will travel to King's Academy March 4 for their opener and the JV will go to Moore Haven March 7. Schedules for all the teams are available in the office.

Hot or cold, some of the football players can be seen sporting their new state football jackets around town. The jackets came in last Friday and coaches and players wasted no time in using them. Looking good Gators!

Pahokee students win county-wide essay contest

Five students from Pahokee Middle Senior High School were named winners in a county-wide Martin Luther King Jr. Essay Contest.

In the middle school division Jacob Savage placed first, Farrah Roberts placed second, and Robert Mack placed third.

In the high school division, Tawana Steward placed first, and Tamara Starks placed second.

GDS plans baseball/softball benefit: alumni invited to participate

Glades Day School's baseball and softball programs are sponsoring the First Alumni Baseball and Softaball Games to be held Sunday, March 27, beginning at 2 p.m.

All alumni who played JV or varsity baseball or softball at GDS are invited to participate. Teams will be determined by the graduation year ("odd vs. even"). The ebtry fee for each game is $25 which will include a hat and a t-shirt for the baseball players, and a t-shirt for the softball players.

The deadline for registering for softball is Friday, March 18. The deadline for registering for baseball is Tuesday, March 22. Money raised will benefit Galdes Day School's sports program.

For additional information, please contact Glades Day's high school office, 996-6769.

School brief

Tickets for the GDS Senior Class Play "Everybody's Crazy" go on sale this week. Friday night, March 11, will be a dinner theatre. The menu will include roast beef with all the trimmings. The cost is $10. The March 12 performance will be $5. Anyone interested may contact Barbara Caruthers in the high school office at 996-6769.

ACT cast and crew preparing for opening night

While the cast and crew of ACT's "Lend Me a Tenor" are busily constructing sets, painting scenery, working on costumes and polishing up scenes for Feb. 25 opening night, they're also having a great deal of fun.

The Italian tenor in this delightful comedy is Tom Mack. Developing an Italian accent was not difficult for Mack since he was once married to an Italian who had a "very Italian mother". His character is dramatic and passionate in all that he does; hence, it is a terrific role for Mack who has a flair for dramatics himself.

Playing opposite of Mack is Sandy Cook who is thoroughly enjoying playing the tenor's equally passionate and jealous wife. The verbal battles despite their obvious love for one another, make this role exciting for Ms. Cook who is small but feisty herself.

While he is generally cast as the leading man in musicals, Pat Mackin has stretched his talents to include character roles the past three theatre seasons. As the fiery, tyrannical producer, Saunders, Mr. Mackin rages and blusters about the stage. Ever practical, Saunders gives orders that if the "shrimp stay pink, the audience gets them; if they turn green, we feed them to the stage hands."

Perhaps the actor with the best role in the play is Michael McCarthy. As the youngest and best looking leading man (according to the female cast members) he gets the hugs, kisses and adoration of all the female characters. As Mr. McCarthy said, "It's a tough role but someone's got to do it!"

Young Vicki Irvin is experiencing her first large role in an adult production. She is not intimidated by working with adults. She said, "Iv'e been a member of ACT since I was in grade school; most of the cast are like family." Ms. Irvin plays the naive and mesmerized "groupie" of Tito Merelli.

Another Ms. Irvin, Margaret finds acting an "interesting experience". Her character, Julia, is a high society dame who dresses and looks like the Chrysler Building.

The final two actors completing the cast are David Cook and Kaye Lasagna. Mr. Cook, who has been working on stage for the past 10 years, is finding work on stage time consuming but definitely "fun". He is cast as the somewhat pushy but determined bellhop responsible for some of the slapstick stunts in the play. Ms. Lasagna plays an ambitious opera singer who has her 'flings' and according to Max has nearly "flung herself through the opera company". Ms. Lasagna's biggest worry is passing herself off as a sexy seductress. What is more, fitting into the slinky costumes,

The setting for the play is the 1930s. Part of the fun for the cast in this play is dressing up in drop-ewaist dresses, strings of beads and boas, furs and funky hats.

The men make their fashio statements in blazers and baggy cuffed slacks, three-piece wide-lapeled suits, tuxedos and Panama hats.

Particular attention is also being given to hairstylists and accessories of the Jazz Age.

All in all, the cast is enjoying rehearsals and looking forward to opening night, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. An additional performance is scheduled for Feb. 26, at 8 p.m. at John B. Boy Auditorium, Clewiston. Tickets may be purchased at the box office.

Host families sought

Over 200 high school students from Newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union will be arriving in the United States this August for a 10 month stay with American host families across the nation.

The students are participating in a program sponsored by the Freedom Support Act and American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE), a non-profit organization. These exceptional students, ages 15-18, are proficient in English and fully covered by health and accidental insurance.

Students are also available from Europe, South America, Australia and Asia.

To become involved in this educational program and to receive further information, please call 1-800-SIBLING.
